THURSDAY, JANUARY 6.

The business outlook for 1898 for New Mexico is bright. Let us hope that the outlook will prove a fact.

The public schools of the territory are steadily improving. New Mexico is going ahead in all directions, slowly somewhat, but all the more surely.

There is one thing about Mr. Richard Croker, boss of Greater New York and Tammany Hall. He may not look very handsome in an evening suit, but people do not laugh at him. Nothing succeeds like success.

Voting for a United States senator from Ohio commences next Wednesday. The renegade Bushnell-Kurtz gang may succeed in defeating Mr. Hanna, but thereby it will defeat itself for all time to come.

COLLECTORS, who do not enforce the law as to the rigid collection of taxes, can be removed by the governor for dereliction of duty. A removal of two of such officials for cause would be a great good thing for the territory.

It is not good policy for any party to give too many offices to one individual in this territory or to one family. A fair division of offices among the leaders and deserving men of the party is the correct and sensible thing in politics and wins in the end.

WHEN it comes to standing by its friends, the New Mexican is as good as a United States bond, and everybody knows that there is no better financial security on earth than a United States bond. Our esteemed friends, the politicians of the territory, will do well to heed this fact.

EX-VICE PRESIDENT ADLAI F. STEVENSON has become the attorney and a director of the North American Trust company, of New York. It is feared by the free silver men, who have heretofore claimed Adlai as their own, that he has strayed off into the camps of the plutocrats and into the haunts of the goldbugs.

TWO HUNDRED Kansas school houses are to be sold for building material, there being no use for them in the school districts where situated. No wonder, therefore, that Kansas for the past few years has gone Populist. Can't expect anything else from a state where they have no use for school houses.

THE Chinese system of civil service, now in operation in the bureaus and offices of the federal government, ought to be modified in accordance with the spirit of the age and the demands of the people of this country. Over on this side of the water no bureaucracy modeled upon the Chinese or the German or the French system is wanted. This is a republic and not an effete monarchy.

SANTA FE COUNTY is fortunate in having a very good set of county officials. The people of the county builded better than they knew when they elected a Republican set of officials last election. A most wonderful change for the better has taken place in county affairs. Of course there is always room for improvement but improvement is the order of the day when a Republican administration is at the helm.

Is addition to lectures on free silver, Mr. William J. Bryan will now also regale the people of this country with accounts of the great prosperity existing in our sister republic of Mexico, where 10,000,000 out of 12,000,000 of people exist on tortillas and atole, wear cotton shirts and trousers and straw sandals all the year and think they are well paid when they earn 25 cents a day. Mr. Bryan will henceforth work hard to have the people of this country believe that Mexico's name is prosperity, because it is a free silver country.

GREAT is the transatlantic cable, great is the man who sends news to this country over it and great is Mr. W. W. Astor, now a resident of London. Says a recent cable dispatch: "Mr. Astor introduced the novel and very practical plan of providing each gentleman as he entered the house with an envelope containing the name of the lady he was destined to take to dinner. It then became his duty to seek her out, and if necessary to make her acquaintance, thus saving his host all further trouble." In addition to being great, and having the inside on cable news, Mr. Astor is also possessed of true ingenuity, as the above fully indicates.

LEADING attorneys are of the opinion that boards of county commissioners have no legal right or power to abate taxes or rebate taxes by the wholesale and simply by resolution. Such action being of very doubtful legality should not be exercised by boards of county commissioners. The practice of several district attorneys have indulged in by compromising tax suits at 75 per cent, without costs and penalty, is also extremely reprehensible and against public policy. Indeed such action puts a premium on non-paying. This manner of doing business cannot be stopped any too soon for the public good.

THE miners of Grant county do not take kindly to the plan, submitted by a committee of the last International gold mining convention at Denver for a change of the United States mining laws as at present existing. The miners of Grant county are right. The plan proposed is radically wrong in many respects and if adopted by congress would prove very detrimental to the great mining interests of this country, that have grown most rapidly and satisfactorily under the operations of the laws in force at present.

GOVERNOR MOUNT, of Indiana, is going right along doing his duty as the chief executive of his state without much ostentation. He has announced that he is not a candidate for the U. S. senate. He has been elected chief magistrate of the state, and his duty lies in filling the office to which he has been chosen. That is a right and dignified position for the governor. But the good old fashion of letting the office seek the man now and then, instead of waiting for the man to seek the office, might on occasion be revived. And if the Republicans win next year in Indiana, and that fashion should happen to be revived—well, what is the matter with Governor Mount for the U. S. senate anyway?

THERE is something wrong concerning the reports from Cuba. The population of the island on January 1, 1897, was estimated at about 1,500,000 people. The Cuban junta in New York reported on the 29th of December last, that during the year 1897, 600,000 persons have died on the island and that at present they are dying at the rate of 1,500 a day. This means that the population of Cuba is being rapidly exterminated and that in another year or so, there will be less than 25 per cent of the population, counted on January 1, 1897 alive. This certainly cannot be so. It is too fearful and fearful a spectacle. One must believe that the Cuban junta for purposes of its own is, to say the least, publishing exaggerated accounts of the situation and is thereby injuring the cause of Cuba libre.

Mrs. Lease and the Pronoun "He."

Mrs. Mary Lease, of Kansas, has a mighty small opinion of that part of the constitution of the United States which sets forth the necessary requisites for a member of congress, and proposes to change the meaning of the venerable document in that particular.

Mrs. Lease has grown weary of a representative in the halls of the nation's capitol, from the district of Kansas in which she lives, whose sole claim to fame rests upon the fact that he scorns to wear a luxury of apparel known as half-hose. She further believes that a person who is refined enough to wear, not only half-hose, but full length hose, will reflect more credit upon the Sunflower state and that she is the "fellow" to do it. Right here is where the provisions of the constitution governing such cases conflict with her own ideas of what qualifications are necessary to make a congressman.

The constitution requires that a representative in congress shall have been seven years a citizen of the United States and shall be an inhabitant of that state in which "he" shall be chosen. That one little word "he" is what is causing all of Mrs. Lease's trouble; how to get over that is the question. She cannot comply literally with this condition, for a change of raiment does not change the person. She can only be included on the general ground that the use of the pronoun "he" as a pronoun of multitude indicates both sexes. But be that as it may, Mrs. Lease proposes to test the question and if a woman can be elected to the congress of the United States she will be that one, or know the reason why.

A Complete and Elaborate Report.

We have recently received a copy of Governor Otero's report to the secretary of the interior, with the complements of his excellence, which is a very complete and elaborate discussion of the conditions and needs of the territory and sets out the advantages and resources in an attractive and convincing manner. He deserves credit for this along with many other acts which show that he has the welfare of the territory at heart.—La Belle Cresset.

Scott's Emulsion is not a "baby food," but is a most excellent food for babies who are not well nourished.

A part of a teaspoonful mixed in milk and given every three or four hours, will give the most happy results.

The cod-liver oil with the hypophosphites added, as in this palatable emulsion, not only feeds the child, but also regulates its digestive functions.

Cancer Of the Breast.

Mr. A. H. Crausby, of 128 Kerr St., Memphis, Tenn., says that his wife paid no attention to a small lump which appeared in her breast, but it soon developed into a cancer of the worst type, and notwithstanding the treatment of the best physicians, it continued to spread and grow rapidly, eating two holes in her breast. The doctors soon pronounced her incurable. A celebrated New York specialist then treated her, but she continued to grow worse and when informed that both her aunt and grandmother had died from cancer he gave the case up as hopeless.

Someone then recommended S.S.S. and though little hope remained, she began it, and an improvement was noticed. The cancer commenced to heal and when she had taken several bottles it disappeared entirely, and although several years have elapsed, not a sign of the disease has ever returned.

The Appointments Give Universal Satisfaction.

The Examiner is pleased to note how well the nominations of Judges McFie and Parker have been received by the press of the territory. We have yet to see one paper that has a word to say against either of them. It would seem as though no nominations could have been made that would have given greater satisfaction throughout the territory. —Las Vegas Examiner.

Two Good Suggestions.

According to estimates in the New Year's editions of the Denver papers New Mexico's mine output for the past year is: Gold, $1,950,000; silver, $750,000; copper and lead, $1,500,000; turquoise, $800,000; coal, $1,250,000, or a total of $5,355,000. These figures may, perhaps, be considered by some as excessive, but mining men seem to agree that they are not far from a reasonable estimate, since it has long been recognized as a fact that much of the mineral product of this territory goes to Colorado smelters and is absorbed in the annual showing of that state. The Las Vegas Optic suggests that the next legislature should look to this matter and designate some person whose duty it shall be to gather such data officially. How would it do to make such duty part of the work of the director of the School of Mines? Indeed, the idea might most properly be carried further by requiring that the president of the Agricultural college shall also gather statistics pertaining to the agricultural and horticultural interests of the territory.—Albuquerque Citizen.

New Mexico and Arizona.

New Mexico had a wonderful revival in 1897. It commenced a year ago with its enormous herds of cattle and sheep almost doubled in value in the markets and with the rapid advance in the price of wool and kindred products. The stock outlook in New Mexico never was better than it is today. The same may be said with regard to gold, silver, copper and lead mining. Many gold camps have taken on new life, notably the Red River district, just across the Colorado line, and Cochiti, further to the southwest. Irrigation enterprises of great magnitude are now under way, and more railway building is now in progress or contemplated in New Mexico than in any other western state or territory. The new country now open to settlement in the Pecos valley, because of the big irrigation plans now being carried out there, is an empire in itself. The extension of the railway south from Eddy, and also the construction of a line of railway opening up the White Oaks country, means a new era for New Mexico. A large amount of building is now going on and many of the towns are enjoying a period of activity akin to the "boom days."

Arizona's best year was the one which closed last night. Every town in the territory is humming. Larger enterprises and more of them are now under way than ever before known. Millions of dollars are being expended in irrigation and vast valleys are planted in cotton for settlement. According to official reports there was a larger immigration into Arizona in 1897 than in any previous year. Mining, both for gold and copper, is at the height of that industry, and the stock industry is thriving as it never did before.—Denver Republican.

WINTER WARDROBES.

Plaid Cloaking For Redingotes, Jackets and Golf Capes.

For tailor made redingotes, jackets and golf capes heavy plaid cloaking in various patterns and colorings is largely used. This is frequently finished with a self made fringe, quite plain—that is, without knots or balls, the tints of the plaid being combined in it. Plain cloaking with a plaid reverse is also used and requires no lining.

For tailor made costumes intended for hard, general service, besides the plain cloths of various weights and all colors, there are ribbed and striped goods, including worsted corduroy cloths, which are extremely durable.

Velvet corduroy and plain velvet in bright and dark colors compose very warm separate bodies of the skirt variety and are winning great popularity because of their serviceable quality.

Silk and wool mixed crepons having embossed floral patterns are among the newest materials. They are somewhat expensive, but very pretty, and appear in all black and in color combined with black.

Gauze embroidered with spangles in various designs is to be had in all tints for evening bodies and gowns. It is made up over a lining of silk of the same color or a color which will be harmonious.

Transparent and semitransparent materials are extensively employed for ball gowns. A picture is given of an evening costume having a plaid skirt of white crepe de chine decorated with applications of lace and hung over a lower skirt of white satin. The low cut bodice, which is crossed diagonally in front, is of sky blue satin embroidered and spangled with steel. The minute sleeves are scarcely more than puffed shoulder straps and are fastened to the bodice by diamond buttons. The belt, which is tied at the side, is of peacock blue velvet fastened by a diamond buckle. The gloves are of bluish pink glace kid. JUDIC CHOLLET.

THE FASHION.

Elephant Leather—A Handsome Hat—The New Skirts.

Elephant leather is the latest novelty for fine pocketbooks, cardcases, belts and small bags. It has a rough, irregularly ribbed surface and comes in beautifully soft shades of gray and light brown. Articles made of it are very expensive, and the pocketbooks and cardcases are often heavily ornamented in silver and gold. The love for bright colors is still conspicuously indulged. Many daring combinations are seen, especially in millinery, one of the prettiest and most effective being exhibited in a toque of pale blue velvet trimmed with salmon pink chrysanthemum and black ornaments.

Union underlinens, which used to be so expensive and so hard to find, are now kept in stock by all the large dry goods shops and are reasonable in price. They are much more comfortable and less likely than the two piece suits of underlinens.

Skirts are much less rigid and are close at the front and sides, all the fullness being concentrated at the back. Very little or no stiffening is used around the foot, the skirt being lined substantially throughout instead with heavy silk, alpaca or moreen.

The blouse bodice occupies the foremost place this winter and is seen everywhere, with or without basques. The blouse fashion affects everything, from street jackets to ball gowns. The picture illustrates a costume of French blue cloth. At the top each side of the bodice is adorned with a tab of moss green velvet outlined with gold cord and crossed by cord fastened with gold buttons. The blouse bodice forms two box plaits before and behind, trimmed with green velvet and cord, like the skirt. The plastron, back and front, is of moss green velvet, as are the belt and collar. The sleeves of blue cloth are decorated to match the bodice and have frills of green velvet at the wrists. JUDIC CHOLLET.

THE CONTENT OF "SUGAR in the beet" of the crop grown in the Eddy and Roswell sections of the valley has proven to be more uniformly high than any other part of the United States.

FORTUNATELY the land is blessed with just the fertility to produce high grade beets, and

MORE FORTUNATELY the Pecos Irrigation and Improvement Co. and the Roswell Land and Water Co. have an irrigation system of great magnitude, covering a vast body of the BEST SUGAR BEET lands on earth. The water is applied to the crop WHEN NEEDED.

THE SUN SHINES more hours in the day and more days in the year at Eddy and Chaves counties, New Mexico, than in any other section of the west.

184 separate analysis, chiefly carload lots, showed AN AVERAGE of 17.01 per cent sugar in beet; 64.1 per cent purity.

THIS REMARKABLE RESULT was accomplished by new farmers, unacquainted with the culture of beet root, on new land and under very trying circumstances, as the factory was not started until May, and a majority of the acreage was planted between JUNE 1st and AUGUST 10th.

GOOD SOIL makes the seed germinate.

WATER makes the plant grow.
